REDEVELOPMENT OF SYDNEY FISH MARKET
TO BE COMPLETED BY THE END OF 2012

Sydney Fish Market Pty Ltd is delighted to announce that subject to the finalisation of a Deed of Agreement with the NSW Government, a $40 million redevelopment of Sydney Fish Market will take place in partnership with the Government, over the next two years.

By the end of 2012, Sydney Fish Market will finally be able to present the site in a manner commensurate with the world class quality seafood sold there.

"In short, I'm stoked!" said Grahame Turk, Managing Director of Sydney Fish Market Pty Ltd.

"This is great news for seafood lovers and tourists. The redevelopment will improve our visitors' experience by providing increased access to the foreshore, improved seating and public amenities, multilevel undercover parking and additional retail and wholesale outlets".

Sydney Fish Market congratulated the NSW Government in seeing the wisdom in co-investing in the future of one of Sydney's icons and an integral part of the NSW seafood industry.

"It just wouldn't have happened without Minister Macdonald's vision, energy and enthusiasm", said Mr Turk. "He has been a great advocate of the Market for many years and has appreciated the importance of this redevelopment for Sydneysiders and tourists".

"The redevelopment is also fantastic news for our tenants, buyers and suppliers", he said. "Not only will it enable existing tenants to finally upgrade their own premises, it will provide for safer access to our weekday wholesale auction by removing interaction between the general public and trade".

The timeline for the project means that works are intended to be completed by the end of 2012, with work commencing immediately upon planning approval.
